

FULL OF COLD; HAD THE GRIP.
This has been such a trying year for sickness that many will be pleased to know how Lewis Newman, 506 Northridge St., Charleston, W. Va., was cured of his cold and grip. He writes: "I was down sick and nothing would do me any good. I was full of cold and grip until I got two 50c bottles of Poley's Cold and Grip Cure. The best remedy for grip and colds I ever used. Good for grip, coughs, colds, sore throat, and all the ailments from Provost Marshal-General Crowder." 7/11

AMMUNITION BOX FATAL TO CHILDREN

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Four children were killed and many others were injured in an explosion resulting from an attempt of a number of French children to open a box of ammunition which had been left behind by the British troops in a northern department of France.

Alameda Matron Influenza Victim

ALAMEDA, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Elizabeth Marie Smith, wife of Harry O. Smith, died this morning at her late residence, 1240 Grand street, following an illness of a few days with influenza. She was the daughter of Martin R. and the late Angelina Zimmerman, sister of Edna, Alma, Frank, Harry, Robert, Benjamin and Fred Zimmerman. For several years she has been socially prominent in Alameda, coming here from Placerville which was the family home. The funeral and interment will be private.

Proven Swamp-Root Aids Weak Kidneys

The symptoms of kidney and bladder troubles are often very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition. The kidneys seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected as these danger signals often lead to more dangerous kidney troubles.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, which, so many people say, soon heals and strengthens the kidneys, is a special did kidney, liver and bladder medicine, and being a herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who use it.

A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Better get a bottle from your nearest drug store and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Oakland Daily Tribune.—Advertisement.

NEWS OF THE SHIPYARDS

Facilities for recaulking and repairing wooden ships have been increased in the Eastbay country by the completion of the new marina ways at the Barnes-shoebottom shipyard on the estuary. One of a number of wooden craft, built at other Pacific coast points for the Barnes-shoebottom shipyard, has been cradled on the ways for a general overhaul. It is understood the vessel and others of her type now being repaired at other Eastbay yards, are to be placed on the run to the Orient with the object of freighting coconut oil and copra to this port. The new ways at the Barnes-shoebottom plant, will accommodate vessels up to the 6000 tons register. Another shipways is to be established there at once.

When the good ship Cocoonine balked at a return to old ocean and jammed the ways at the Barnes-shoebottom shipyard, she caused the managers all kinds of worry and trouble. First, it was thought better than a week's time to induce the ship to change her mind about taking up life ashore. Then, when she did change her mind, the shipyard men were somewhat unprepared. As a result the ship was in the estuary and bobbing about like a gull before all of her lines were fast ashore. The ways were somewhat damaged by the vessel's vagaries and are now being repaired.

Completion of the $1,600,000 shipbuilding plant of the Union Construction Co. on the western waterfront is expected by January 1, 1919. At that time the working force, now numbering about 1072 men, will be increased to 1500 men. The firm has contracts with the United States government to build ten 9000-ton steel ships for freight purposes. The contract price for the lot is $17,000,000. Construction of two ships of the register stated is now under way. W. W. Johnson, president of the firm, states that assurances have been given by federal authorities that shipbuilding contracts awarded during the war are not to be cancelled except for cause. He anticipates no change in the present policy of the United States. The firm is concerned and expects to carry it out to the letter.

Claremont Women to Work Overseas

War relief work overseas is to be taken up by two young women of the Claremont school faculty. They are Miss Saylor Van Hagen, sixth grade teacher and playground director, who is now in England on her way to France, and Miss Oliver Gordon, president of the School Women's Club, who is in New York ready to sail for the same destination.

U. S. TO INSURE RAIL EMPLOYEES

Federal railroads in California are to insure their employees, William C. McAdoo having applied through representatives of the State Industrial Accident Commission for permission to the federal authorities to carry their own risks.

Under the compensation law of California there is a provision that employers shall secure compensation for their injured employees in either of two ways—by insuring with an authorized insurance company or by securing from the Industrial Accident Commission a certificate to self-insure.

Transcontinental companies operating in this state that were subsequently taken over by the government had complied with the regulation by obtaining the commission's certificate of consent.

She Did Not Believe It Possible

Beautiful, Delicate and Promptly Performed Dental Work Wins Deserved Praise

"Fine!" said Mrs. Ed Anger after having nerves removed, gold crowns and fillings made at Dr. R. C. Anderson's office.

"I did not believe it possible that any dentist in the world could fix my teeth without hurting me—but now I'm convinced. I've been to dentists before—a number of them. Their prices were higher than yours much higher. Every one of them threw up their hands and said, 'I'm too sensitive and could not be saved. I was about ready to believe them, but a friend advised me to come to you. I'm glad I came. Your work is perfect. I think it is beautiful—wonderful! But what pleases me most of all—except the no-hurt part is that it was done so quickly.'"

"I'll be able to send a lot of my friends to you for work—and I'll do it, too—don't forget that. Yes, you can use my name in the papers. I'll gladly recommend such wonderful work."

In speaking of Mrs. Anger, Dr. Anderson said:

"Mrs. Anger was a difficult patient—but that's the kind we like. Her teeth were sensitive and deep rooted but with our Procline we were able to do her work absolutely without pain. I think it is beautiful—wonderful! But what pleases me most of all—except the no-hurt part is that it was done so quickly."

"It is these satisfied patients backing up our high class work, our painless methods, our low charges and our prompt service that has brought us such a remarkable volume of business."

"Our low prices are half what others charge and our work can not be surpassed."

My easy payment plan—pay a little at a time—as your work progresses.

Steamer Will Carry Aid for Influenza

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 19.—Bearing ten physicians, nurses and a complete equipment of medical supplies, the steamer Spokane will make a fast trip to Juneau, leaving here Tuesday, to carry aid to Alaska natives suffering from a virulent epidemic of Spanish influenza.

Dr. Emil Krullish of the United States health service is in charge of the party.

A naval transport, which had been sent here from California to carry the party, was abandoned in favor of the faster Spokane.

NEW PREVENTIVE FOR INFLUENZA DISCOVERED

Georgia College Professor Discovers Deadly Enemy to Influenza Germ—First Used It to Protect Own Family—Just a Few Drops Inhaled From Pocket Handkerchief Disinfects Nose and Throat.

A NEW preventive treatment for Spanish Influenza, called Wilson's Solution, has just been placed on the market and is now on sale by leading druggists in Oakland. The formula was perfected by Professor Robert C. Wilson, head of the department of pharmacy of one of the leading educational institutions of the country, and is composed of the most powerful antiseptics and germicides known to science. All that is necessary is to inhale the vapors from a few drops on the handkerchief. The unpleasant, and has a very soothing effect on the respiratory organs. On account of Professor Wilson's high standing as a man of learning, thousands of people in his home city began using the preparation as soon as it became known that he had perfected the formula without any advertising whatsoever. In only a few days' time the nearby towns and cities began clamoring for it, and Professor Wilson was forced to begin its manufacture upon an extensive scale.

Professor Wilson first made the preparation to use in his own family and save a small quantity of it to one of his neighbors. The neighbor told others and in only a short time the news spread rapidly over the city. On the third day alone one retail druggist sold over five hundred bottles. Leading physicians, specialists and bacteriologists gave the preparation their unqualified endorsement and are recommending it to their patients.

It is Professor Wilson's theory that the influenza germs in the nose and throat can be killed by the vapors from his solution just as you can kill the germs in a room by fumigation. The fact that health authorities recommend the use of medicated masks seems to support his theory.

Wilson's Solution is especially valuable because it can be conveniently carried on the person and should be inhaled from the handkerchief at frequent intervals during the day, especially when entering crowds or public places.

As a further precaution, Professor Wilson strongly recommends spraying the nose and throat night and morning with the solution in diluted form, according to directions on the bottle. Although composed of the most powerful germicides the preparation is harmless when used in the above manner. A 5-cent bottle is sufficient for a week's treatment. Wilson's Solution is also known as Anti-Flu. And is sold by all druggists. Professor Wilson states that his solution is to be used as a preventive treatment only, and not as a cure. If you contract Spanish Influenza, he says, you should consult Dr. Langley & Michaels Co., wholesale distributors for this section.—Advertisement.

After-the-War Program Outlined Labor Federation Makes Report Gives Ideals for Peace Times

An after-the-war program of reconstruction is embodied in a report made today by a special committee of the California State Federation of Labor, Political and Economic questions have been taken up and answered for the federation.

Wage standards, hours of work, places for soldiers, public ownership, manning of the merchant marine, labor representation are some of the subjects treated. The report follows:

To the Trade Unionists of California: The great work that has been terminated as we all hoped it would. The equity has been surrendered unconditionally and with it has come the long delayed revolt of the workers in every country against the royal autocrats who were responsible for the war.

From our very entry in the war the workers of California have freely and fully responded to duty. Whether enlisted in the ranks of our valiant fighting forces or in the industrial armies at home, in Liberty loan campaigns or in Red Cross drives, everywhere the sons and daughters of toil have met the test of loyalty.

But for real test is just now beginning, and it will be the most difficult and the most momentous that our State and nation have ever faced.

The coming of peace at this time gives us a preponderant share of the power and prestige of victory while it saves us from paying anything like the frightful costs that have been borne by other belligerent nations.

California and the other Pacific Coast States have been enormously increased in capacity has been enormously increased in capacity.

the general main upward trend and which undoubtedly would have continued, although possibly not to such high levels had there been no war.

OVERTIME WAGES HIGH. Wage standards established during the war have not kept pace generally with increased costs of living commodities. It has only been in some of the most essential war work that seemingly high rates have been paid, but when analyzed and brought down to the actual facts surrounding the employment of the workers, it is found that overtime and Sunday work have been almost entirely responsible for the fattened pay envelope.

Fully realizing the responsibility of defining a program to be followed by the workers of California and the struggle that must come in place of the comprehensive political or economic reconstruction appointed in the convention of the California State Federation of Labor, it is felt that the line of march should always lead forward and with that thought in mind the following suggestions are offered for consideration and approval.

DEMILITARIZATION PROBLEMS. We pledge to our returning soldiers full co-operation in the proper adjustment of industrial conditions to coincide with the newly established world democracy.

To this end we welcome and invite to our councils representatives of the returned soldiers and sailors and they are in a position to take up matters of mutual interest.

Co-operation and by such recognition of their complete community of interest with the soldiers in every respect, we are able to exploit the soldiers of uniform to the detriment of their brothers of industry. In no more effective manner than through the labor unions themselves can the release of the soldiers into civil life be accomplished without a disastrous depression of wages.

We demand that a standard workday of not more than eight hours be established and recognized in all industries where it does not yet obtain, and we favor a further reduction of the hours of labor to minimize unemployment.

With the constant depreciation of the purchasing power of the dollar the disbursement of the workers' earnings has become a subject of their concern and only in importance to that of wages received. The failure of the labor organization to take up the co-operative effort to bring about a more equitable distribution of the great advantages inherent in co-operation.

CO-OPERATIVE ORGANIZATIONS. We demand that a standard workday of not more than eight hours be established and recognized in all industries where it does not yet obtain, and we favor a further reduction of the hours of labor to minimize unemployment.

U. S. SANCTION IS SOUGHT FOR BIG DRYDOCKS

Plans for the huge drydock the McCormick Terminal Company purposes to establish on the western water, with the consent of the United States government, are reaching the stage where Fred T. Parr, president of the corporation, will make a trip to Washington in interest of the project.

When he was in Oakland, Admiral H. H. Rousseau, naval engineer for the War Labor Board, went over the drydock plans and site of the company, attended by President Parr and Mayor Davis, and expressed himself as being well satisfied with the project as proposed. A further conference with the admiral is to be held within a few days and immediately thereafter Parr will leave for the east.

There is no intent on the part of the people to seek governmental financing of the project, it is stated. As a matter of fact, the government will not from now on, according to Admiral Rousseau, lend further financial assistance to drydock propositions. It will, however, according to the admiral, grant priority to orders for and transportation of the materials required for constructing the four floating shipways it will issue permits for on the Pacific coast. Parr's contemplated trip to Washington will be made with the object of securing federal sanction and assistance for his project.

Several hundred thousand dollars' worth of railroad track and concrete piling shipped by the government to the recently abandoned Liberty shipyard have been purchased by the McCormick firm and is being transported to its site in the vicinity of the Southern Pacific mole. Including the proposed drydock, the building plans of the firm contemplate an expenditure in excess of $5,000,000. The improvements will include warehouses, piers, embankments, railroad terminals and coal bunkers.

CO-OPERATIVE ORGANIZATIONS. We demand that a standard workday of not more than eight hours be established and recognized in all industries where it does not yet obtain, and we favor a further reduction of the hours of labor to minimize unemployment.

POST WAR COMMERCE.

Chairman Hurley of the United States Shipping Board has again called attention to the importance of continuing the work of building up the American merchant marine until it attains worthy and adequate proportions. He points out that the signing of the armistice to the war activities makes the need for more ships more urgent than ever. All but a small portion of the ships to be delivered by the shipping board, in 1919 will be available for use in ordinary commercial channels. The greater part of them will be needed to attend the needs of the army overseas and in transporting it home.

It is to be the policy of the shipping board, says Mr. Hurley, henceforth to build ships with reference to their special suitability and with particular reference to the economical cost of operation, including motive power, cargo space and speed. It is also the intention to design these ships with reference to their probable trade uses and trade lines. The policy of the government with reference to the merchant marine is of course liable to future changes. But Mr. Hurley, as the head of the shipping administration and a business man who is thoroughly awake to the needs of the situation, gives the program as it now exists. It remains to be seen what attitude Congress will take, but certainly everything possible will be done to maintain and increase the importance of American ships in world maritime commerce.

That the American marine, developed to unsuspected proportion by the demands of the war, will be retained and receive the thoughtful support of the government is practically certain. Our ships will go into every market of the world and touch at every port. The ports and countries on both sides of the Pacific, which have suffered severely from the four years' dearth of tonnage, will be served as quickly as possible.

A merchant marine, however, does not consist of ships alone. Port facilities to handle ocean-borne commerce are vital. That port which does not provide a hospitable reception to ships will be denied the prosperity that attaches to foreign trade. The Tribune has repeatedly urged that provisions for post-war commerce receive the serious attention of the Eastbay cities. It has dwelt with special earnestness upon the importance of developing in an organized, intelligent way the harbor facilities of Oakland.

The end of the war is at hand. In a few months, possibly in a few weeks, peace will be formally declared and the world will once again turn to normal activities. An expert survey of Oakland harbor—of all its units—should be made and a comprehensive plan to provide accommodation for ships and their cargoes should be adopted. This is not all—the work of improving old and creating new port facilities should be started at once.

Tomorrow is the last day of the United War Service campaign for funds to carry on the work of Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army and other organizations in Europe. Do not be indifferent to the importance of this work until the opportunity to give something for its prosecution passes. The soldiers who have won victory, who have brought peace, who have made possible the renewal of a prosperous era in this country, need the service this money will provide. They need it more now than they did when in the heat of battle and with the prospect of fighting always ahead. Don't be a quitter in the middle of the game. To do so is bad citizenship, poor patriotism. Give something in the name of those who have died on the field of honor and of those who have been hurt and crippled; it will go to make the life of their comrades better, happier and safer until all return to their homeland.

One of the gratifying and immediate results of the armistice is the release of allied prisoners who were held by the Germans, and who, according to various and persistent reports, were not faring well. Such reports obtain credence, for there have been so many illustrations of Hun ruthlessness that it could hardly be otherwise. There is no corresponding condition on the part of German prisoners, for the release of war captives is not reciprocal. They are humanely treated, and besides, while their country is all torn up in mutiny, they are secure from home dangers.

A COALITION GOVERNMENT.

Clearly the outstanding result of the balloting for Congressmen on November 5th is that for the period of the next Congress there will be a coalition government, in theory at least, in the United States. A Republican majority has been returned in both branches of the legislative department—the House by the decisive figure of forty-nine and the Senate by two. Thus we have the situation, not unprecedented, of a Democratic President and administration and a Republican Congress.

This is a condition which the country may view with deep satisfaction, providing it may expect both political divisions of the government to approach the important tasks ahead with a spirit of patriotism transcending all desires for political advantages. Such a course should not be difficult. The issues before Congress and the Administration are sufficiently far-reaching to provide obscurity for partisan effort. The most important decisions of the next two years will refer to international questions and to matters of national policy which would be greatly prejudiced by any provincialism in thought or action.

Former President Taft, in an editorial leader in the Philadelphia Public Ledger summing up the results of the election, expressed the hope for a period of "wise equity and true co-operation between the two coordinated branches of the government engaged in settling the serious questions which are to present themselves for solution." Continuing in the same serious vein he addressed to the Republican members of Congress this warning:

"The people will hold the Republican majorities to a strict accounting of the way in which they use their powers. Should they develop obstructive tactics while the President is attempting to carry out a policy in the interests of the country and the world the party will be made to suffer for it in the next election. Should they disclose a willingness to co-operate with the President and restrain partisan effort, the legislation which is adopted will have the weight and force of its bi-partisan origin, and will have the sanction of solid public opinion."

It is from this latter situation the country may expect results of great benefit. In the matter of international policies connected with the war, the President is almost certain to have, as he has had in the past, the fullest co-operation of the Republicans of the Senate. Mr. Lodge, who will have the chairmanship of the committee on foreign affairs, is strongly attached to the principle that the President should have a free hand in conducting negotiations with foreign governments.

The President's war policies have heretofore had the hearty co-operation of the Republican members of Congress, and now that peace by victory is within reach there is not apt to be any cause for sharp difference with his program. The President's ideas of peace, insofar as they may be realized at the coming conference in Europe, have the approval of the Republican members. This does not cover the President's promulgations regarding economic barriers, the freedom of the seas and the league of nations, matters which we can hardly expect will be settled at the peace table.

Among the more important domestic questions of national policy which must be settled are those with reference to the new American merchant marine, retention or relinquishment of Federal control of the railroads and other utilities and the development and administration of national resources. It is most fortunate that these matters are not to be determined by a government dominated, as at present, by politicians from one section of the country. The country very much desires that they should be settled with the "full weight and force of bi-partisan judgment" and in such a manner as to deserve the "sanction of public opinion." The questions of tariff and taxation are also of unprecedented importance. They should not be left for settlement by a sectional government.

It is only just to concede that the President is not wholly responsible for the fact that Southern Democrats have dominated Congress during his administration. It is rather due to the political system that prevails in the legislative body. The rule of seniority in selecting the chairmanships of committees made it inevitable that the Southern members, who had been longest in the Congress, should control practically all the committees and indeed all of the important ones. Nor is the President to be blamed for the fact that these Southern members are without adequate vision regarding the nation's interests. Their provincialism is inherited.

It was this fundamental shortcoming and the unblinking exploitation of the political advantages of the Democratic majority in the present Congress that caused the country to disapprove it and to elect for the next Congress a plurality of Republicans. The Republican members will be too astute politically, if restrained by no other reason, to commit the same error that caused the downfall of their opponents.

But the President will have to consult the Republican Congress. Instead of being followed blindly he will have to show the wisdom of and reason for administration projects. This will involve the testing of proposals by the combined judgment of both political divisions in Congress and the head of the executive department. It will set up a safety valve against radicalism and sectional legislation. America has been the last of the belligerent nations to elect a coalition government, but is fortunate enough to have taken the step at the beginning of the period of reconstruction and preparation for peace.

NOTES and COMMENT

The President's Thanksgiving proclamation is different. In this it meets with general approval. It is always a popular thing to get out of a rut.

Former President Roosevelt, in desiring that his son's grave shall remain on the spot where he fell, manifests again that keen sense of the fitness of things for which he is celebrated. Quentin Roosevelt's grave would be overlooked in the family plot, but on the battlefield where he yielded up his life it will become a shrine.

The third American army has been selected for what may be considered the honors of the aftermath—the first to go into Germany to hold the country to its armistice agreement. It will penetrate to the Rhine and across the bridges that are named. It does not go as on a parade, but in battle trim, not forgetting that nothing in which the Hun figures can be taken for granted.

Colonel House has preserved a masterful silence as far as news reports go, but it is sensed that the country had an effective say when the armistice terms were being forged. The colonel at least is not a plenipotentiary who spills the beans by talking.

The Hun who has been acting as governor general of Belgium during its ravishment has disappeared. When justice shall be righteously administered this disappearance will be but a merry hint compared with the one that will be arranged for this von, whose name is Falkenhause.

The people of Luxemburg are manifesting their absolute ability to control their grief if their duchess should abdicate. In fact, they have made it plain that they have requested her to beat it. A timely "what-has-become" item is now in order as to the betrothal of the duchess's sister to that interesting Hun, Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria.

The German empire began at Versailles by the crowning there of the first emperor in 1871; it will formally and fittingly end in the peace declaration of its executors who will convene there in 1918.

Von Tirpitz flees to Switzerland. It is not important. He can be retimed readily enough when the time comes for attending to his case. Von Tirpitz is responsible more than any other Hun for the U-boat bar-barties.

The several cautions that have been uttered and published to the effect that we mustn't bear malice or be vindictive, now that the Huns have been licked, are liable to perform the office of propaganda though it may not be so intended. The Huns have not conducted themselves in a way that deserves a wide-spread effort on our part to ward off bad natural consequences. They are not going to be subjected to such barbarities as they have been inflicting, but they do not deserve any special intercession.

The army mule held his own with astonishing success up to the war, and had a status even in this, but the consensus of military testimony is that the mule is rather put him out of commission, and that future service will see less of him. However, his entire elimination is hardly to be expected. He has survived many innovations.

The closeness of the control of the Senate will fetch LaFollette up again. He figures as a Republican and is expected to align with his party. If he should elect to act with the other side it would produce a tie, as results now figure up. Which, a gleam of the political goldmine to a considerable degree. It is astonishing how long sometimes comes to the assistance of a man who is "in Dutch."

They are going to cut the ground from under that rather cute compromise about a brick ship. They propose to use sure-enough bricks, though of a less specific gravity than the regular thing. And why not? It is just as easy as concrete.

WEATHER REPORT

Entire state of California: Tonight and Wednesday, unsettled weather, probably showers; light northeast-erly winds.

Oregon and Washington: Tonight and Wednesday, rain west, fair east; gentle easterly winds.

Weather Conditions.

The depression off the California coast yesterday has moved south-eastward and is now central over northern Arizona. It has caused heavy rain over the Pacific slope with rain in California and western Washington. In California the rainfall was heavy from the San Francisco bay section south to the vicinity of Point Conception and moderate in other portions of the state. The eastern storm is now over New England and has given rain over the Mississippi river. It is warmer in the Rocky mountain region and colder in the Atlantic states.

Conditions are favorable for showers in California and western Washington, with fair weather in other sections.

THEY HAVE COME TO THEIR OWN.

There are gardens all around us. Lovely gardens everywhere; On the lofty roofs of cities Or in sunless fields and basements. In the cottage door-yard nestling; Guarded close by plumed trees; And in happy freedom growing Cheered by mountains' morning breeze.

From the gardens' blooms are taken Taken, taken every day. Those forlorn and starved for sun—

Droop and fading pass away; While the favored ones, attended, Nurtured, cherished, can but live Till the call of Fate supernatural Limits pleasures earth might give.

They are garnered by the Gardener One and all—where'er they grow, In the gloomy, buried basements. Where no ray of light could glow Or in parterres, trimmed and cared for.

Till they budded, bloomed and passed To the gardens where the sunshine Through eternity shall last.

We who mourn our fairest blossoms— Called we feel before their prime— Have the heritage of comfort That in that celestial clime No rude wind shall e'er assail them. Not a petal shall be lost.

Prayed or torn by earthly tempest. Saved, our loved ones, count 'em cost? —CLAUDIUS THAYER.

Berkeley, November, 1918.

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO

Grand Republican ratification meeting, with Jacob Neff, Tully E. Ford and Colonel George A. Stone the speakers held in the Tabernacle, preceded by a monster parade and display of red light and skyrockets. Alameda sugar works close, owing to the scarcity of sugar beets.

Members of the Bachelors' Club are boycotted at a dance of the Recreation Club, by the Alameda girls, who demand the bachelors be confined in the handball court to be ridiculed as they passed in grand march.

FULL GROWN MEN.

In his speech at Madison Square Garden on Sunday Secretary Baker of the War Department spoke nine times about "boys," when he meant soldiers in our army; he quoted himself as addressing a wounded man as "my lad." The effect of this reiteration became very tiresome in the printed speech; it may have been less irritating when moderated by the oratorical skill of the secretary.

It is pretty presumptuous to call the full-grown, two-fisted, husky men who wear khaki in France "boys." A great many of them achieved man's estate before they got civilian life; all of them are doing men's work now. To refer to them as if they were college undergraduates or pupils in a high school betokens a cloudy comprehension of their status, physically, mentally and socially.

Civilian visitors to the camps in this country and abroad report that speech-makers who address the soldiers assembled before them as "boys" and refer to them as "boys" are politely but rather coolly received, so far as the passages of their addresses in which the word is incorporated are concerned. The soldiers prefer, and naturally so, to be spoken to and of as men, which they are by every standard of measurement that can be applied to them. The impulse to concentrate affection for soldiers in a diminutive appellation is hard to resist, but it should not be indulged. The Bulgarians, the Turks and the Austro-Hungarians have been licked by and have surrendered to full grown men, and the troops that are attending to the Germans north of Verdun and elsewhere are not "boys."—New York Times.

In times of peace the world did not hear much of Schauburg-Lippe, but now it emerges. It is a country and possesses a throne, upon which sat Prince Adolph, who has now found it so uncomfortable that he has come off and gone to join the other potentates out of a job.

TYPICAL GERMAN PROCEDURE.

When the allies entered Ostend they were amazed at the profusion of Belgian flags which greeted them. Everywhere the emblem was on display, but the wonderment was somewhat allayed on investigation. It develops that several days before the evacuation German traders entered the city and "surreptitiously" sold Belgian flags to the residents. Such a procedure might astonish ordinary mortals, but not the German, the devious and artful work-er of whose mind tend steadily to the main chance. He could not hold his prey, but he would get all he could out of it, even by such an act of constructive treachery as dealing with the enemy through selling flags. It is typical of the Hun, and when the allies finally come to enter Berlin they need wonder if they find Unter-den-Linden festooned with Old Glory, the Union Jack and the Tricolor of France. Nothing is absurd to the German if it brings him a pecuniary profit.—Omaha Bee.

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

What You Ought to Consider When Selecting Clothing.

BY DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University.)

"The appearance oft proclaims the man," but much oftener the health and personal hygiene of the owner.

Show me the average man who wears long undergarments, a waist-coat, rubber shoes and an overcoat and I'll show you the victim of "colds," sore throats, anemia, weak muscles and other ailments.

Thick or heavy garments enervate the vitality of the individual as well as make him over-sensitive to changes of temperature. A skin too tenderly protected, too much petted, coddled or spoiled by thick clothing, becomes less capable of resisting swift, sudden or extreme changes from heat to cold. Too heavy fabrics or too warm layers of clothing are an invitation to influenza, pneumonia and coughs. Clothing should be just a little less than needed to make you feel warm or to hamper the movements of your legs and arms.

A slight, chilly feeling when you first open a window or step into the open sunlight is preferable to an excess of warmth. The latter means that there is too much hot blood on the surface of the skin, due to an excess of clothing. This hot blood makes you feel warm and your flesh is being chilled by the colder air as it gradually penetrates thick overcoats and thick underwear.

On the contrary, if you have just a moderate thickness of garments, and the skin is lightly chilled at once, it indicates that the skin has shrunk to "squeeze out" much of the blood from its surface.

A pale, tense skin, in the cold means that very little of it will be lowered in temperature to be carried to the nose, throat and lungs. These structures will not be congested with frigid, chilled blood.

Leather hunting jackets and aviators' coats lined with wool or fur are desirably warm under peculiar conditions of weather severity. When these are worn, however, on average cold days they breed trouble. The skin becomes too sensitive and too full-blooded. Rubber coats and rubber shoes are dangerous for the same reason. It is preferable to harness and nurse yourself to avoid exposure than to resort to such covering.

Wool is warmer than cotton, not so much because of any difference in the powers of the two types of fibres, but because when wool fibres are made into yarn their stiffness and elasticity keep them apart. Garments woven from wool yarns nearly always contain many spaces filled with stagnant air which excludes other air and is a poor conductor of heat.

Cotton, linen and silk also are not usually as capable of excluding rapid changes of air or skin temperature. When laundered, their fibres are still more closely pressed together. Specially woven "mechanical" cotton and linen produce air spaces in the meshwork which make them in a manner almost as warm as wool or fur.

Cotton mesh shirts are almost as old as nature. The size of the air spaces or mesh may be so fine and so close as to be useless. They may also be so coarse as to be almost too full a circulation of air. The essential thing is to have them just at the dimensions.

When the body perspires there is increased danger to the internal structures. Unless heat is then made by muscular exertion the colder outer air will chill the blood in the skin and produce congestion in the lungs and other internal organs. Perspiration must evaporate as it leaves the skin. Clothing which does not allow this, which falls to dry quickly, and which does not hold a quantity of air in its meshes to check

LABOR BEGINS NEW EFFORTS FOR MOONEY

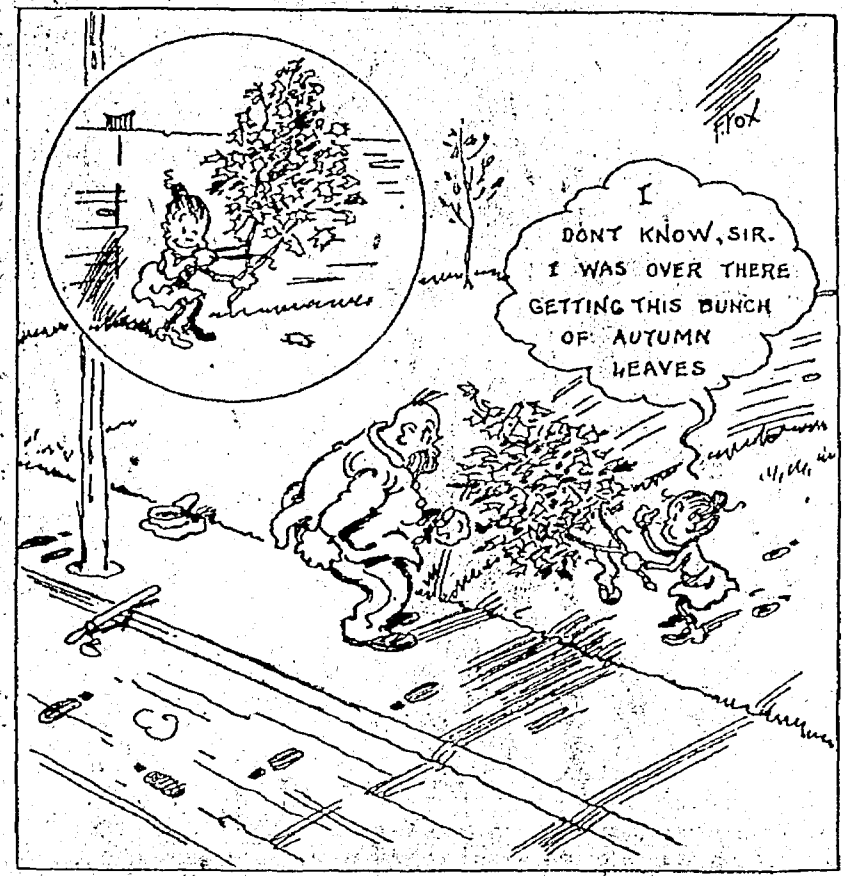

Organized labor of the Eastbay district today at noon opened a campaign in the interest of a new trial for Thomas J. Mooney, convicted of the Preparedness Day bomb atrocity, by holding an open-air meeting near the entrance to the Moore shipyard. Men in labor circles on both sides of the bay were in attendance.

The affair was in a measure impromptu, but is to be followed, by other meetings of a more formal character.

Short addresses were made by Clarence Perry, business agent of the local Shipyard Laborers Union; John Wheeler, of the local Beller-makers Union, and by Mrs. Rena Mooney, wife of the condemned man. The meeting today follows and reflects the action taken last night at the regular meeting of the Central Labor Council, when the following resolution bearing on the Mooney case was adopted:

"Resolved: That in the view of the knowledge that is general that Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings were convicted as the result of corporate greed and treacherous public officials; perjury and fraud being used to disgrace and weaken organized labor by the imprisoning of Brother Warren K. Billings for all the days of his natural life and by the hanging of Brother Thomas

Others Have Tied Camouflage to Weapons, but Tomboy
Taylor Tied a Weapon to Camouflage.

J. Mooney on a scaffold in the penitentiary, be it.

"Resolved: That to date all efforts to give justice to the labor movement and the defendants have been thwarted by the courts through the clever use of technicalities; the appeal of the American Federation of Labor in convention assembled, the appeals of International Unions, the appeals of the State Federations of Labor, the appeals of the Central Council, the appeals of the local unions, along with the appeals of President Wilson and millions of citizens of the world over, have all been ignored, be it.

"Resolved: That in the reasoning of the Central Labor Council of Alameda County the time has arrived to lay this entire question before the individual members of the organized labor movement, for them to express a fitting protest against the foully plotted execution of Thomas J. Mooney and the unjust imprisoning of Warren K. Billings and the keeping under indictment the defendants that have been acquitted after the perjury plot was exposed. Therefore be it.

"Resolved: That the Central Labor Council of Alameda County at a regular meeting of November 18, 1918, assembled in the Labor Temple in Oakland, hereby request that a strike vote be polled in its jurisdiction at special called meetings of local unions, the same to take effect December 2, 1918—said strike to continue until real and substantial justice is given to the labor movement by the freeing of both Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings, they having been convicted by fraud and conspiracy. The result of the strike vote shall be announced by the local unions at the regular council meeting Monday evening, November 25, 1918."

MOONEY STATEMENT.
BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—Thomas J. Mooney sued a statement from his cell in the condemned row at San Quentin penitentiary today, reiterating his belief that he will be saved from the gallows despite the refusal of the United States Supreme Court to review his case.

"The highest courts of the land, the Supreme Court of the United States, the Supreme Court of California, the Appellate Court of California and the Superior Court of California, have said that a citizen so convicted is without remedy so far as judgment is concerned. Then they wonder why some workers become infected with Bolshevism."

"My case is now finally out of all courts and in the hands of Governor Stephens, on my petition for a pardon, which petition was filed with Governor Stephens in March, 1918."

"The labor movement of the entire world has petitioned President Wilson and Governor Stephens, protesting against the four methods used by the Chamber of Commerce through District Attorney Fickert."

"President Wilson has three times asked Governor Stephens to make it possible for me to be tried on one of the remaining indictments still pending, involving identically the same charges as the one on which I was unjustly convicted. I have not the slightest notion what he will do, but I have confidence that it is never too late for the solidarity of labor to right the terrible wrong. I know they will."

"Fraternally greetings to the organized workers everywhere."

"TOM MOONEY."

GRAND JURY TO CONSIDER SALARY PLEA

Consideration of the demand of the statutory employees of the county for an increase of salaries will be the principal business of the new 1919 grand jury, the panel for which, comprising 30 names, was drawn today in Judge Quinn's department. Next Friday the panel will be examined and the grand jury of nineteen names will be selected.

The new grand jury will make an investigation of the different departments of the county government and recommend to the Alameda county legislative delegation in regard to the necessity for increasing or decreasing the number of deputies and their salaries. There will be a concerted effort to get a recommendation for salary increase.

Some months ago the supervisors made a sweeping increase of the salaries under the jurisdiction of the board, and it is claimed that these employees are receiving higher compensation than the employees provided for under the statutes. The employees now demanding increases

ART GALLERY OPENS WITH NEW ASPECT

The Oakland Municipal Art Gallery, in the Auditorium, was opened to the public yesterday, presenting an entire new aspect. The galleries have been treated with a wash that gives a new character to the pictures, old and new.

There are many new and highly interesting examples of American schools shown in the rehanging, among them a fine Twachtman, a Blakelock that is a true Blakelock, several of Xavier Martinez's best things, notably "The Bridge," "The Apache Dance" and other of his older works. The Hahn collection of paintings, hung in the inner gallery, offers an exceptional group of California's best artists.

The Russian collection of paintings and the Oakland Art Association's collection of etchings complete one of the best exhibitions west of Chicago.

The gallery is open from 1 to 5, except Thursday.

The Palace of Fine Arts likewise opened its doors to the public yesterday. Hours 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Berkeley Soldier Is Dead at Field

BERKELEY, Nov. 13.—Clifford T. Ors, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ors, of 3044 Benvenue avenue, died at Meather Field, Sacramento, yesterday from an attack of Spanish influenza. The young man was 24 years old. He was a member of the aviation corps and had been at the field almost from the day it opened.

Young Ors was a graduate of the Berkeley high school. Prior to entering the service he assisted his father in handling the business of the Keystone Lubricating Co. in San Francisco. The funeral will be held here tomorrow afternoon.

Daniels' Report to Tell Growth of Navy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Secretary Daniels' annual report, the most voluminous in the history of the navy department, was completed today and sent to the public printer. It contains among other interesting data a complete review of American naval activities during the war. It will be released to the public on December 9.

THANKSGIVING LINENS

"I HAVE LOOKED EVERYWHERE and can see nothing better in fine linens," is a remark frequently made in the Linen Section of the Taft Store.

—Not only are the assortments here larger, but the selection of patterns is in better taste. Nor does one have to look to the more expensive patterns to find the attractive designs—every pattern at every price is the best possible to be had at that price.

—OUR STOCK OF ALL-LINEN DAMASK SETS FROM 2 YARDS SQUARE UP TO THE LARGE DINNER SIZE CAN HARDLY BE DUPLICATED ON THE PACIFIC COAST. THERE IS A LIFE'S WEAR IN ANY ONE OF THESE LOVELY SETS. NO CHANGE IN STYLE MAKES THESE LINENS ONE OF THE MOST PRACTICAL GIFTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

—A 2-YARD SQUARE OF DOUBLE DAMASK with 1/2 dozen 26-in napkins to match, are $21.00 priced at the set.

—A 2x2 1/2-YARD CLOTH in this same quality of damask with 1 dozen napkins to match, is $33.00 priced at the set.

—A 2 1/4x2 1/4-YARD CLOTH in this same quality of damask with 1 dozen napkins to match, in the 26-inch size, is priced the set. $35.50

—A 2 1/2x2 1/2-YARD CLOTH in this same beautiful double damask with 1 dozen 26-inch napkins to match, is priced the set. $38.00

—ALL LINEN CLOTHS with napkins to match can be had at prices the sets. $40, $50, $60, $75 and $100

—LOVELY HEMSTITCHED DAMASK SETS in sizes 2x2 yards square, with one dozen 24-inch napkins to match, quality exactly as you have always $40.00 been shown in Taft's, the set.

—The same sets as above described, in size 2x2 1/2, with the 1 dozen napkins, the set. $45.00

—Other beautiful sets in the larger sizes are selling at. $55.00, $60.00 and $65.00

—LUNCHEON DAMASK CLOTHS, nicely hemstitched, in sizes 36" x 45" and 54 inches square, designs all the little neat patterns suitable for dainty luncheons, with napkins in the 12-inch and 15-inch to match. These are all priced separately. Cloths from $3.25 to $8.50, and the napkins from $4.00 to $15.00 the dozen

Broken Lines and Slightly Soiled Linens in a Close-Out Sale

—The collection of fine lace and embroidered linens that can be had at pre-war prices is one of the attractions in the Linen Department that will hardly be duplicated for months to come.

—Fine Madeira Sets, Scarfs, Doilies and Tea Napkins, French embroidered linens with filet lace insets, in scarfs and centerpieces; Mosaic luncheon sets, also large table pieces with tea napkins to match, odd pieces of cluny lace, Spanish lace and hemstitched centers, scarfs and napkins, are now offered at PRE-WAR PRICES.

LEMON JUICE WHITENS SKIN

Girls! Make beauty lotion at home for few cents

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quart of the best bleaching and skin whitening lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, and see how tan, redness, sallowness, sunburn and windburn disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless—Advertisement.

Lasting Memorial Now Planned All Honor Oakland Hero Dead

While no word has yet been received from the capital issues committee at Washington relative to Mayor John L. Davis's telegram asking permission to erect a memorial to the memory of the late Mayor of Oakland's honored dead who fell on the bloody fields of France in defense of their flag and the eternal principles for which that flag stands, every confidence is held that the reply will be favorable.

It is noted that restrictions are being lifted on all manner of construction work, such as public buildings, wharves, warehouses and the like, so that no fear is entertained that the committee will bar the carrying out of so patriotic a project as the erection of a monument to commemorate the brave deeds of those fine young men who went forward ready and willing to

LOOK OUT! PROF. PORTA SAID IT

Get out overshoes and raincoat when Professor Albert F. Porta, writing exclusively for The TRIBUNE, cautions! Once again have his weather predictions proved absolutely correct. Writing under date of November 19, Professor Porta warned that the period between November 15 and 21 would be marked with rain, centering however on the 17th and 21st. Along came the rain right on time. Also, he told that there would occur a severe earthquake in the area of Mexico, the Antilles or the Pacific coast between California and Central America.

The following telegram dated November 19, comes from Victoria, B. C.: "An earthquake shock of unusual severity was recorded on the seismograph of the Geological Observatory at 11 o'clock this morning. The shock waves lasted with varying intensity for two hours. The distance of the disturbance was estimated at 450 miles from Victoria."

Now comes Professor Porta to declare that his November prediction that the period between November 21 and 24 will be unusually stormy, centering on November 22-23 will be as fully carried out as the fulfillment of the other prophecies which has preceded it. Professor Porta's word to the wise is sufficient. He says "this will be a wonderful storm."

WILL NAME COMMITTEE.

"A beautiful statue or a noble shaft or a liberty building situated on the City Hall plaza will at least keep green in our memories the great deeds of the great men of our past. I stand ready to promote this worthy enterprise. I shall name a committee the very moment I hear from the authorities at Washington. This committee will be composed of leading men in the community and the plan they propose will be a fitting one for the honoring of the men who have gone."

Regard of the form which the memorial will take, the Inter-Alleied Council of Arts, of which Bernard Maybeck is chairman, will offer aid in the designing of the memorial. This organization is composed of painters, sculptors, musicians, dramatists, writers and men representing all branches of art.

PROCEED TO ACT ON BOROUGH PLAN

Proponents of proposed constitutional amendment No. 5, which provides for the union of county and city governments under the borough plan, are insisting that the measure carried at the election November 5, and are making preliminary plans to take advantage of the victory as soon as it becomes legally effective. Alameda county favored the measure by a vote of 7000 to 4000 and a big vote in its favor was cast in Southern California.

In celebration of the success of the plan, Mark L. Requa has sent from Washington, D. C., a telegram to E. W. Williams secretary of the Tax Association of Alameda county, saying: "Congratulations to the citizens of Alameda county for their support of the constitutional amendment No. 5. The way is now open for real constructive work. The evils of the last forty years culminating in the unconditional surrender of Germany and the enormous debt of the American nation, render it more than ever imperative that our government, whether state, county or national should display the same efficiency that characterizes our business enterprises. It is now the duty of the citizens of Alameda county to avail themselves of this opportunity and demand abolition every form of county government waste, substituting in its place the highest type of county government, which is the borough plan, in place of the archaic patchwork now inadequately serving the needs of the times."

Man Who Keeps Army Clean Here

Uncle Sam's army is going to keep clean, armistice or no armistice—for armistices don't apply to the scrubbing brush.

This was indicated today when W. Peet of Kansas City and B. W. Peet, president and general manager, respectively, of the great national system of Peet soap factories, arrived at the Hotel Oakland on a trip west to inspect the West Berkeley plant. Additions are to be made at the local factory in a short time, it being understood that the government plans to release materials for the local Peet soap works has a $15,000,000 contract to make soap for the government.

Notice was served, immediately after the signing of the armistice, that the truce would have no effect at all on the soap order, and that the army would use as much soap as before—or fill plenty of gun barrels.

DEAR me, I do lose patience with some foolish little women. They think too much about saving money for their husbands that they think nothing at all about saving (or, rather, keeping) his love.

When a beautifully dressed woman comes along a shabby wife's economy is soon forgotten.

It would only learn that they may be both economical and beautifully dressed—by the Cherry plan—there would be fewer tears and disappointments.

The Cherry plan enables any woman—no matter how small her income or allowance—to dress in the height of fashion, and pay for her clothes a little at a time. Visit the Cherry shop at 515 13th st. The men's store is at 528 13th.

BREW THIS TEA FOR BILIOUSNESS

Costs next to nothing, yet keeps bowels in fine order and ends constipation.

The head of every family that values its health should always have in the house a package of Dr. Carter's IC and T.

Then when any member of the family needs something for a sluggish liver, sick headache, or to promptly regulate the bowels, simply brew a cup and drink it just before bedtime. It's an old remedy for biliousness, and B. Tea, and has been used for years by thousands of families, who get good results from its use, and they have no desire to take anything else.

Give it to other children, freely—they like it and it will do them good.—Advertisement.

SHIPBUILDERS LEAGUE

Captain Fred Krumb Pipes All Hands on Deck to Save Good Ship From the Rocks

Attempt Being Made to Pull Best Tractors From County Organization

By Eddie Murphy

FRED KRUMB, president of the Alameda County Midwinter League, will have to do some professional navigating at the league meeting tomorrow night if he hopes to prevent the good ship "Class-A League" from going to pieces, according to rumors. Hints were made yesterday that plans were afoot to put the skids under the Class-A organization and breakers are ahead. It is known that two big breakers already confront the league, but Krumb feels sure he can steer clear of them when the boys meet tomorrow night, but the rumor that a third breaker in the form of someone trying to disrupt the league is something that Fred Krumb and the other league officials are today busy upon in hopes of picking up a clew and getting things straightened before tomorrow's meeting.

Thanksgiving Game Recalls Memories of Last American Game Between U.C.-Stanford

The game between Berkeley and Stanford scheduled for Thanksgiving will be the first clash in American football between the ancient rivals since November, 1905, before the San Francisco fire. Stanford won 12 to 5. The presidents of the big schools held that game that American football was too highly organized, was too much a duel between paid professional coaches, and so had to go. The English game of Rugby was then substituted, but Berkeley dropped it and broke back to the American game in 1915. Stanford persisted in Rugby and the lack of the big game between the schools has been a lamented feature of the sports seasons since. Of course Stanford will have no chance to beat the Berkeley team this year because after four years Berkeley is only producing second-rate players. Stanford had hoped to convert the half back into a full back, but ever the games are rather, they can't learn Rugby and can't learn American football in a week or a season.

Melrose Juniors Give "Big Brothers" a Sound Walloping

The Big Brothers' team made a poor showing in the first game of the class B division of the Alameda County Midwinter League, losing to the Melrose Juniors 10 to 0. Crack Bowlers Will Meet Tomorrow in Total Pin Doubles

What promises to be the best two-day bowling match in the history of the game will be played tomorrow night at the Berkeley Bowling Club. The match will be between the Berkeley Bowling Club and the Stanford Bowling Club. The match will be played in two pin doubles.

HANLON TEAM CINCHES PENNANT ALAMEDA FINISHES IN CELLAR

THE race in the Shipbuilders' League is over. Last night at the weekly meeting it was decided to call it quits even though two more games remain on the schedule. With the Hanlon team perched on top and the Alameda Bethlehem the only team that has a chance to better its standing by the playing of those two games, the boys seemed satisfied to call it a season. You can hardly blame the players for wanting the league to close its gates now, as some of them have played thirty-four straight Sundays, and also some Saturday afternoons besides putting in their regular time during the week at the shipyards. Twenty-four games were played in the race which had the scissors closed on it last night, while before this series there was another of ten games. Bill Kenworthy, manager of the pennant winners, was satisfied to have the race end, as he is one of the boys who took part in every game, as did Pat Kilhullen of the same club. But Kenworthy was not willing to call it quits until he was sure that all the other managers were satisfied.

The boys in the Shipbuilders' league have grown so weary over the long time playing that the managers last night refused to back another league if one is proposed. But one thing they are satisfied to do is to give their services for the next few Sundays for the league. The league is a good one, and the players are a good lot. The league is a good one, and the players are a good lot. The league is a good one, and the players are a good lot.

HONOR MEDAL GOES TO TWO CALIFORNIANS

Two additional California men have been awarded the distinguished service cross for acts of extraordinary heroism. They are First Sergeant Frank M. Brimer, deceased, Company B, 345th Machine Gun Battalion, whose nearest of kin is his mother, Mrs. Ida M. Brimer, residing in Los Angeles, and Private Victor Fredlund, Company G, 315th Engineers, whose father, John F. Fredlund, resides in Kingsburg.

Although badly gassed during the action of September 27, Sergeant Brimer maintained liaison between his company and the battalion post of command, at one time carrying important messages from the front to the artillery. On September 29, still suffering from the gas effects, he refused to leave his company, and on a cold rainy night brought up fresh ammunition over a rough, unfamiliar road in the dark through heavy shell fire. He took part in the action on Trenchard farm hill, September 30, assisting in the direction and control of fire of the machine guns of his company. That evening he was killed while taking a wounded soldier to the rear.

Fredlund was cited for extraordinary heroism in action near Prey, France. While withdrawing from a daylight raid with his detail he saved a wounded infantry soldier lying helpless behind a heavy machine gun and artillery barrage. He returned through the machine gun fire and the man's leg practically severed, to the trench, carrying him 100 yards through the barrage to a place of temporary shelter. Securing additional aid he took the man to a first aid station. By his efforts the wounded man's life was saved.

SAYS COLLEGE NOT FITTED TO BE WAR POST

Can universities and colleges of the United States successfully combine academic and military training as part of the government's plan to maintain a large reserve army for future emergencies?

President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California takes a negative stand, while officers of the Student Army Training Corps in the campus declare that student units are the ideal method of training future officers if universal military training is to be sponsored by the United States.

"Universities cannot be West Points and universities at the same time," declares President Wheeler, who is just back from Chicago where he attended the annual meeting of the National Association of State Universities. "It is evident that universities can be of very great help in the upbuilding of a system of universal military training and it is undoubtedly the desire to help. The difficulty is finding the exact mechanism and procedure by which we can use the university for that purpose."

"It seemed to be the prevailing opinion of the association of state universities that the best solution would be to return to the old military camp and have added summer camps for two or even three of the four years of college."

According to President Wheeler the views of the state universities heads have been sent to the committee on education and special training of the war department at Washington.

MAY BE PERMANENT

While no official information has been received as yet by Colonel William Lassiter, commandant of the S. A. T. C. at the university, officers of the school declared unofficially that they hoped to point to the fact that they had a permanent student unit becoming permanent feature of college education, with probable modifications of the present working plan. Officers, it is declared, must be provided from the nation's universities for the 800,000 men which it is planned to train annually for a great national reserve army.

"Swat Him!" Court's Advice to Husband

When there's "another man" tangled up in your household machinery—swat him!

At least, this is the advice Judge Morgan of San Francisco has to offer. He offers it in the case of J. Steele Mitchell in the student's army at the State university, blamed by Thos. E. Collins for the troubles leading up to his divorce in San Francisco, of Agnes J. Collins.

Morgan says Collins should have "kicked the soldier."

"And you ought to tell the government," he advises. "You don't want that kind of soldier in our army!"

Collins obtained a divorce and custody of his eleven-year-old son after reciting that his wife had come gay parties with Mitchell, and introducing letters written by the two.

Mitchell, who is the son of Mrs. Clara Mitchell of the Hotel St. Francis, says it's all a case of Collins' jealousy. "It's all absurd," he said. "She has no reason to use my name in connection with the thing. I don't see why she should pick on me."

MADE HER LIFE WORTH LIVING

Han't Felt As Well in Years As She Does Now; Tanlac Ends Troubles.

Such statements as the following should appeal to thousands who suffer from the same troubles. Most people who suffer from nervousness, dizziness, indigestion, liver troubles, disordered kidneys, rheumatism, and who are in a run-down condition, simply need something to tone up their system and to assist the vital organs in performing their proper functions.

Tanlac is the most logical and satisfying medicine ever known for the treatment of these troubles. It is evidenced by the scores of testimonials, which are received daily from men and women of unquestioned honesty and integrity, expressing deep gratitude as a result of having found such a remedy, source of relief.

Mrs. George Maloney, residing at the Vogue Hotel, Seventh and Broadway, Los Angeles, in relating her experience with the Master Medicine, said: "Since taking Tanlac I am just like a different person. I certainly have made life worth living for me. Before I took it I had been suffering from severe stomach troubles for two years and was in a dreadfully run-down condition. I would float up so much from the gas on my stomach after eating that I would have to loosen my clothing in order to breathe freely. I could hardly eat a thing without collecting gas for hours afterwards. My kidneys were all out of order and caused me considerable worry and annoyance at times. I felt tired out all the time and would just have to give up and rest for hours at a time. Then, during last August, I had an attack of acute indigestion that came near ending my days. I had to resort to very quick means for relief.

"But I was never able to get back my strength until I took Tanlac. I began using Tanlac about the first of October and after three or four days I found I could eat and relish my food. The gas has stopped coming on my stomach now and I never have any trouble from what I eat. My appetite is splendid and I feel stronger and more energetic than I have in a long time. My kidneys don't bother me any more and, in fact, I have not felt so well in years. Life is some pleasure to me now and I could spend with everybody personally who are troubled like I was. I would tell them to take Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company stores.—Advertisement.

FULL QUOTA IS GOAL OF CITY SCHOOLS

Oakland schools are driving hard to "go over the top" on their quotas of Victory Boy and Victory Girl pledges. They will close with a whirlwind campaign tomorrow.

Principals and teachers are urging boys and girls to sign pledge cards before tomorrow afternoon.

Those who have already signed their pledges are being appointed captains and lieutenants and are given a certain number of pupils to call upon to induce them to become Victory Boys or Victory Girls.

Indoor meetings are being scheduled for these closing days. The Fremont High School will have a mass meeting in the auditorium of the school at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow. All Fremont pupils are expected to be present. H. D. Brasefield, the principal, will outline a plan for the closing of the campaign.

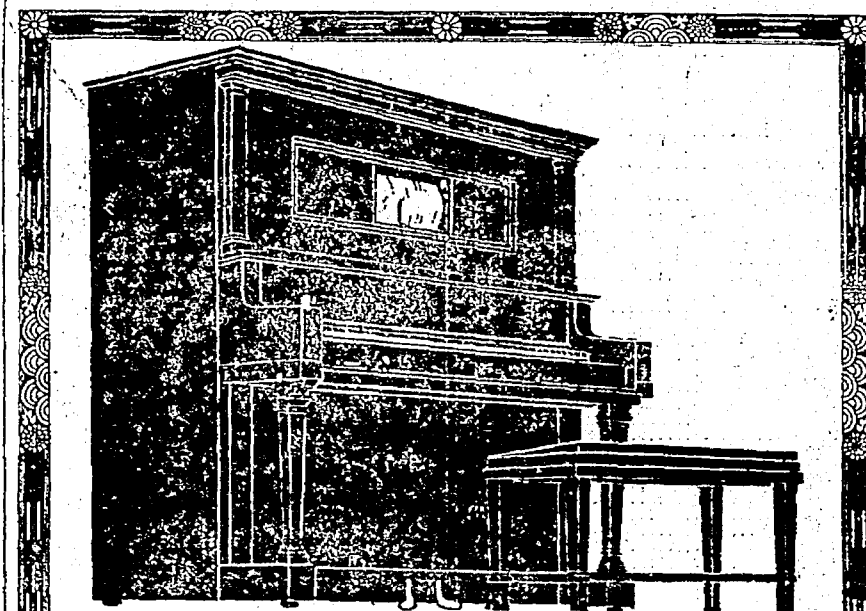

The Claremont school was first in the city to go over the top in the Victory Boy and Victory Girl drive, having passed its quota of 375 on Thursday last week. To date $629 has been subscribed by 207 pupils.

The Incomparable DUO ART.

There are Players and Players, many of them depending upon some one selling feature—but the DUO ART not only combines all these features but includes a score more—features which make the DUO ART stand out above all others—incomparable:

- 1—Tone Gradation—having practically twice the number of Tone Gradations of any other player instrument producing perfect "tone color" impossible in any other Player.
- 2—"Time" Control—which not only regulates the time but instructs and guides the one playing, assuring the correct interpretation of the selection.
- 3—Accenting the Solo—bringing out perfectly the solo (or melody), but at the same time controlling the accompaniment so that it properly supports the Solo.
- 4—No pedaling—the air chamber is constantly supplied without foot pedaling, permitting the one playing to devote his entire attention to interpretation, thus making the instrument a pleasure instead of a labor.
- 5—Simplicity of Construction—no complicated or troublesome mechanisms, as in other Players.
- 6—Reproducing the actual playing of the Great Pianists—with the wonderful Duo Art Rolls, as perfectly as the Victrola reproduces the voice of Caruso and other great artists.

The Duo Art can be played by hand from the keyboard in the usual manner; it plays any 88-note music roll; it reproduces the actual performance of the great pianists. There are so many interesting things about the Duo Art—we invite you to come in and hear this wonderful musical instrument.

Ship's Steward Escapes Rats of Sea Survives Sinking, Diver's Shells

After braving German submarines throughout the entire war, escaping with his life by a hairbreadth several times, including once when he drifted four days in a lifeboat which had been shelled by the Atlantic.

Victor E. Johansen

His most thrilling experience was in June, 1916, when he was on the four-masted barkentine, Crocodile, sunk off the Irish coast.

"We were attacked without warning," he said. "The submarine commenced to shell us. While we got the lifeboats down shells rained about us. We were forced to put off while the skipper, Carl Olson, 64 years old, was getting the ship's papers, and he was nearly overboard for us to pick him up."

"We had had no observations for days because of fog, and asked the captain of the submarine how far we were from shore."

"Go to it," he answered. "Don't let me ever catch you fellows on a ship again—that's all!"

"There were twenty-eight in our crew. After being in the lifeboats four days and nine hours we were picked up by an English collier and taken to Penzance, England, and thence to the Scandinavian hotel in London. We then, shipped on the four-masted barkentine, Marpesa, to Philadelphia. We saved a dog and two cats from the ship and they are alive yet."

Johansen's passport shows in detail how he went from ship to ship after wrecks, and recites the many places he has been. On his last trip to America his boat was shifted to the coast to carry lumber, and this is the first trip he has made in three years that has been free of the peril of submarines.

The Rufus E. Wood will be here for two days, unloading a cargo at the Sunset wharves in the estuary.

ACTOR EARLE WILLIAMS IS SUED BY GIRL

Being treated "carefully, kindly and lovingly" for several years will actor Earle Williams, Oakland movie actor, find out if the courts agree with Miss Roma Raymond, that she is entitled to that amount and that her charges have basis in fact. Williams left Oakland a week or two ago for Los Angeles, and today he was informed that a breach of promise suit had been filed against him in the Superior Court there by Miss Raymond.

According to the complaint Williams found another object of affection and until a few weeks ago Miss Raymond, who is a pretty girl of Polish extraction, was left to lament his absence in ignorance of the reason therefor. Then, she avers, she learned that he had been married to Miss Florine Walz, a New York young woman of wealth, and so Miss Raymond decided to journey to Los Angeles, where she arrived yesterday and immediately filed suit for the amount in question.

Williams declared the action "absurd and ridiculous," but would not deny or admit he had written love letters to Miss Raymond.

is proving truly a wonderful success. And well it should, for such real bargains are rarely offered. Ever since Saturday, when the sale started, the store has been crowded with selecting needed wearing apparel at prices lower than those long before the war.

NEWSY NOTES

Interesting side-lights gleaned from the crowds at the sale.

—The wife and two daughters of California's most popular author, a man world renowned, bought dresses at the sale.

—The president of a bank in the San Joaquin valley shopped with his wife who selected a coat at $38.50 (reduced from $55.00). He stated he saved the equivalent of 6% for one year on $300.

—Seven women from San Francisco, shrewd shoppers every one, took advantage of the sale.

—Jack Bayard, the genial advertising man of The TRIBUNE, wanted to photograph the crowd.

—Quite a few women who formerly had charge accounts with us, promptly paid cash when their attention was called to the fact that charge accounts were discontinued.

—A number of checks for purchases made were cashed by us. Firms represented were Lehnhardt's (2), Pig'n Whistle (2), Pacific Telephone Co. (3), U. S. government war allotments (4), Alameda Co. Election Warrants (3), Shipbuilding firms (7), Southern Pacific (2), department stores (4) and many others.

—A young lady posed in a fur-trimmed coat (marked $95.00) and wanted to buy the same on terms of $1 down and $1 a week. She was later seen headed for an installment house.

—We make no apology for using comparative prices. We are perfectly willing to be guided by the business methods of the White House of San Francisco, than whom no more reliable firm exists.

—Although we are opposed to taking in trade war-saving stamps and Liberty bonds, we were compelled, through pathetic cases, of accepting same in payment of needed wearing apparel.
